

Medication

26. Medication Administration.

- A. Identify basic responsibilities of the person administering medication.
- B. Review standards of care guiding the actions of the person administering medication.
- C. Identify types of information requiring confidentiality.
- D. Select from a list, guidelines for maintaining the confidentiality of privileged information.
- E. Compare types of wrongful actions for which the person administering medication may be held liable.
- F. Explain the legal significance of a controlled substance.
- G. Select from a list, guidelines for meeting legal responsibilities of person administering the medication.
- H. Select from a list, guidelines for meeting ethical responsibilities of the person administering the medication.
- I. Simulate situations involving ethical and legal issues.
- J. Identify the seven rights of medication administration.
- K. State purposes of medication.
- L. State the checkpoints for verifying a medication during preparation.
- M. Classify forms of medications by their route of administration.
- N. Explain factors affecting drug metabolism.
- O. Match common classification of drugs to their action.
- P. Select from a list guidelines for administering medication.
- Q. Answer questions about the self-administration of medication.
- R. List common side effects of medications.
- S. Interpret common abbreviations and symbols used in medication administration.
- T. Identify requirements for properly storing and handling medications.
- U. List guidelines for preventing the spread of blood-borne pathogens.
- V. Review information about seizures.
- W. Demonstrate properly washing your hands.
- X. Demonstrate how to administer oral medication in liquid form.
- Y. Demonstrate how to administer oral medication in pill form.
- Z. Demonstrate how to administer topical medication.
- AA. Demonstrate how to administer eye medication.
- BB. Demonstrate how to administer ear medication.
- CC. Demonstrate how to administer nasal medication.
- DD. Demonstrate how to administer rectal suppository medication.
- EE. Demonstrate how to administer vaginal suppository medication.
- FF. Examine the legal importance of documenting.
- GG. Summarize and identify general rules for documentation.
- HH. Identify information that should be known when documenting medication effects.
- II. Simulate scenarios in resident care.